To Whom It May Concern:

In the summer of 2012, I had the opportunity of working with JoAnn Riley and her teams by helping out with Kids Quest programs in different churches and parks. We were able to communicate the gospel of Jesus Christ in a way that was creative, interactive and adapted for kids.

One of the things that I most loved about the summer was the opportunity to go outside the church to invite people and share the Good News. While inviting people to the Kids Quest programs, we would occasionally have the opportunity to talk about Jesus and pray for people. Several times we were able to go to parks with Kids Quest inviting the kids and the adults to believe in Jesus. It was great to go outside the walls of the church and to share with many the Good News of Jesus.

Inside the church, we were able to do a few Vacation Bible Schools with the material from Kids Quest. I enjoyed seeing the mix of kids, some that had grown up in the church and others that were new, learning about the basic truths of the Gospel. Also, we were able to see the church and the community joining together for this event. People that were not normal attenders, had the opportunity to see what the church was like, and most importantly, who Jesus is.

The other positive experience was being able to work as a team with a group of fellow believers in our task. I had the privilege of meeting and working alongside pastors, volunteers and entire youth groups. It was great to see how God uses each of our talents and gifts to work toward a specific goal and purpose.

Working with JoAnn last Summer was great. In all that we did, we saw God helping us. We were able to speak with boldness about the truth of Jesus through the power of the Holy Spirit. We were able to work as a body and encourage one another.

Sincerely,
Lucas Woodworth
